Mathematics Day

'EVERYTHING AROUND US IS MATHEMATICS'

'EVERYTHING AROUND US IS NUMBERS'

Mathematics Day is celebrated on 22nd December to honour the birth anniversary of the renowned mathematician Srinivasa Ramanujan. Not only Ramanujan, but several ancient mathematicians like Aryabhata, Varahamihira, Bhaskara II, Brahmagupta, Satyendra Nath Bose and so on. But Srinivasa Ramanujan holds significance for several reasons:

- This day commemorates the exceptional contributions of Srinivasa Ramanujan to the field of mathematics.
- Celebrating Mathematics Day is a way to acknowledge and appreciate his remarkable legacy.
- By celebrating Mathematics Day, educators and institutions aim to inspire students and individuals to take an interest in mathematics.
- Ramanujan did mathematical analysis, gave number theory, infinite series, continued fractions including solutions for the most difficult mathematical problems.
- Recognizing and celebrating the subject can contribute to creating a positive attitude towards mathematics.
- This day was dedicated to Srinivasa Ramanujan due to his significant contributions towards mathematics. The celebration of this day motivates the youths. In essence, Mathematics Day celebrates the contributions of him and promotes mathematical awareness, inspires future generations, fosters global collaboration in the mathematical community, and advocates for the advancement of mathematical education.
- Recognizing and celebrating the subject can contribute to creating a positive attitude towards mathematics.

To conclude I can say that mathematics is very important in our daily life so we have to learn it as much as possible to understand the world where we live.
